A LADY DESTINED FOR GREATNESS

The phrase woman simply means the perfection of a man. Woman is a unique being born to give birth to generations. Many myths have said one or two things about women negatively and positively; but the truth is that we are created as helpers to men because we have that glorious ability to put things in place more than a man. Women are different creatures from men.

They are more sensitive, intuitive and emotional. They generally have more feelings than men. With such great capacity of feelings, they also go to the far end of the spectrum. They can be really nasty and mean when they are not in agreement with you but of course that should not describe a Godly woman.

HOW CAN I GROW TO BECOME A STRONG WOMAN IN THIS GENERATION

I AM BEAUTIFUL

I am created in perfection
I glow like light even in the waters,
I am full of strength and mysteries
I am created with a womb to produce seed which is one of the Wonders of GOD which no one can explain.
I am shaped and curved in perfection
I am not a rose but more classified than a flower.
I am a woman and I am beautiful.

You cannot grow into something you do not desire to be, you cannot grow into someone you do not believe in, you cannot grow beyond what your inner eyes can't see. It does not take your environment or what people say about you to grow because that strength to become who you are is in you.

Yes it is true that everyone desires to be great, rich and well known in their society but many people fail to understand that it takes miles to reach that destination.

Along the road to the destiny of greatness some people fall because it seems to be hard for them because of lack of patience, some people couldn't walk to that road because they want a short-cut, while some endured until they get to their destined point.

There is joy and happiness when you get to your destined point but it only takes endurance to get there and it only takes grace to sustain and maintain that point.

.....UNDERSTAND WHO YOU ARE”

Knowing who you are is the best achievement you can have on earth. For you to operate in the realm of greatness, you have to first know who you are. For you to become somebody important to the world, you have to become somebody important to yourself.

.....LET US TAKE IT STEP BY STEP”

- Start operating in high level of understanding.
- Let go of your old self, shame and past.
- Research and gain knowledge about nature and growing to love nature which will help you to gain more knowledge of humanity.
- Let go of burdens of life and stand to say to yourself, yes this is who I am, “I AM A WOMAN OF GREATNESS” and I will grow to become a woman of great generation, because I see the strength of God in me and that is who God made me to be.
- Then take the steps of operating on who you are

A FUTURE DESTINED WOMAN

WHAT DO THE WORLD THINK ABOUT ME AND WHAT DO I THINK ABOUT MYSELF?

YOU ARE A STRONG WOMAN INDEED.

Your strength as a woman is not to take over power or to make man submissive to you, NO, your strength as a woman is to give birth to good and great seed that will produce great generation in this present time and in the future. The Joy of becoming a mother is to have good seed. Your womb as a woman is a natural incubator to nurture generation. You are to nurse that seed and nurture that seed in your womb for 9 months; your Joy can only become great when you see this seed of yours impacting positive things to his or her generation because this seed of yours is very useful to the world.

Are you prepared to be a mother that will nurture great seed?

BEFORE YOU ARE ENGAGED “CAPTIONED”

“If Adam was not doing anything in the garden then there would not have been a need for a help meet. As soon as the help meet was delivered to him, he knew exactly why the helper came.”

WOMAN A FUTURE DESTINED

Research has revealed more than 100 great women who have impacts in the world.

Mary Magdalene (4 BCE–40BCE) Accounts from the Gospels and other sources suggest Mary Magdalene was one of Jesus’ most devoted followers. Mary Magdalene stood near Jesus at His crucifixion and was the first to see His resurrection.

Cleopatra (69 BCE–30 BCE) The last Ptolemaic ruler of Egypt. Cleopatra sought to defend Egypt from the expanding Roman Empire. In doing so she formed relationships with two of Rome’s most powerful leaders, Marc Anthony and Julius Caesar.

Mary Wollstonecraft (1759–1797) English author, Wollstonecraft wrote the most significant book in the early feminist movement. Her tract “A Vindication of the Rights of Women” laid down a clear moral and practical basis for extending human and political rights to women. She was a true pioneer in the struggle for female suffrage.

Sojourner Truth (1797 – 1883) African-American abolitionist and women’s rights campaigner. In 1851, gave a famous extemporaneous speech “Ain’t I a woman?” which explained in plain language how women were equal to men.

Florence Nightingale (1820–1910) British nurse. By serving in the Crimean war, Florence Nightingale was instrumental in changing the role and perception of the nursing profession. Her dedicated service won widespread admiration and led to a significant improvement in the treatment of wounded soldiers.

Susan B. Anthony (1820–1906) American Campaigner against slavery and for the promotion of women’s and workers’ rights. She began campaigning within the temperance movement and this convinced her of the necessity for women to have the vote. She toured the US, giving countless speeches on the subjects of human rights.

Elizabeth Blackwell (1821–1910) Born in Britain, Blackwell was the first woman to receive a medical degree in America and the first woman to be on the UK medical register. Blackwell helped to break down social barriers, enabling women to be accepted as doctors.

As long as you keep developing yourself and becoming a better person, someone better will always come along. Trust me, finding love is sweeter and easier when you become what you seek.

In relationships, unlike physics, likes attract and opposites repel.

I hope this helped you. Go for Gold always!

A FUTURE DESTINED WOMAN

- Helena Rubinstein (1870–1965) American businesswoman. Rubinstein formed one of the world’s first cosmetic companies. Her business enterprise proved immensely successful and later in life she used her enormous wealth to support charitable enterprises in the field of education, art and health. Coco Chanel (1883–1971) French fashion designer. One of the most innovative fashion designers, Coco Chanel was instrumental in defining feminine style and dress during the 20th Century. Her ideas were revolutionary; in particular she often took traditionally male clothes and redesigned them for the benefit of women.

Mother Teresa (1910–1997) Albanian nun and charity worker. Devoting her life to the service of the poor and dispossessed, Mother Teresa became a global icon for selfless service to others. Through her Mission of Charity organisation she personally cared for thousands of sick and dying people in Calcutta. She was awarded the Nobel Peace prize in 1979.

Dorothy Hodgkin (1910–1994) British chemist. Hodgkin was awarded the Nobel Prize for her work on critical discoveries of the structure of both penicillin and later insulin. These discoveries led to significant improvements in health care. An outstanding chemist, Dorothy also devoted a large section of her life to the peace movement and promoting nuclear advancement.

Queen Elizabeth II Rosa-Parks (1926 till date) Since ascending to the British throne in 1952, Elizabeth has become the longest serving British monarch. She has witnessed rapid social and economic change and has been a unifying influence for Britain and the Commonwealth.

THE LEGACY OF BEING A GREAT WOMAN

“Your legacy is every life you have touched, every person you have met, who felt your influence”.

Oprah Winfrey (1954 till date) American talk show host and businesswoman. Oprah Winfrey was the first woman to own her own talk show. Her show and book club are very influential, focusing on issues facing American women.

Benazir Bhutto (1953–2007) The first female prime minister of a Muslim country. She helped to move Pakistan from a dictatorship to democracy, becoming Prime Minister in 1988. She sought to implement social reforms, in particular helping women and the poor. She was assassinated in 2007.

Hilary Clinton (1947 till date) US Secretary of State 2009-2013. First lady during Bill Clinton’s presidency and democratic candidate for President in 2008 and 2016.

Elizabeth Taylor (1932–2011) British-American Academy Award winning actress. She co-founded AIDS research charity in the 1980s and campaigned on behalf of people suffering from AIDS.

And so many more of the women who have been recorded down in the history as world changers. As a woman the world thinks that I am born to be a good wife and a good cook. No, that’s not it. What the world thinks about you does not mean that is who you are, all they just need is an evidence of yourself so that they can describe you properly. I am born to make a home, to birth great generations and to impact lives. Change your thinking and believe that is who you are.

YOU ARE BORN TO MAKE A GOOD HOME, YOU ARE BORN TO BIRTH GREAT GENERATIONS AND YOU ARE BORN TO IMPACT LIVES.

The world is my future and not the kitchen. As a woman you can be a great leader, a warrior, a visionary, or a humanitarian.

A DESTINED WOMAN

THE LEGACY OF BEING A GREAT WOMAN

“Your legacy is every life you have touched, every person you have met, who felt your influence”. How intrigued I was by the above quote made by one of the greatest women in the world, Oprah Winfrey. According to Robert(2013),we all know what successful people look like. They are the ones who do whatever it takes, the ones with the sharp elbows, the ones who know how to take what is theirs. It is said that there is a difference between a woman and a great woman. Therefore, there is a superior spice every woman needs to add to their value to be called a great woman. Praying without ceasing, portraying the character of a virtuous woman (Proverbs 31), developing the habit of preparation at all times, and overcoming obstacles are the basic most recognized keys to success.

KELLY

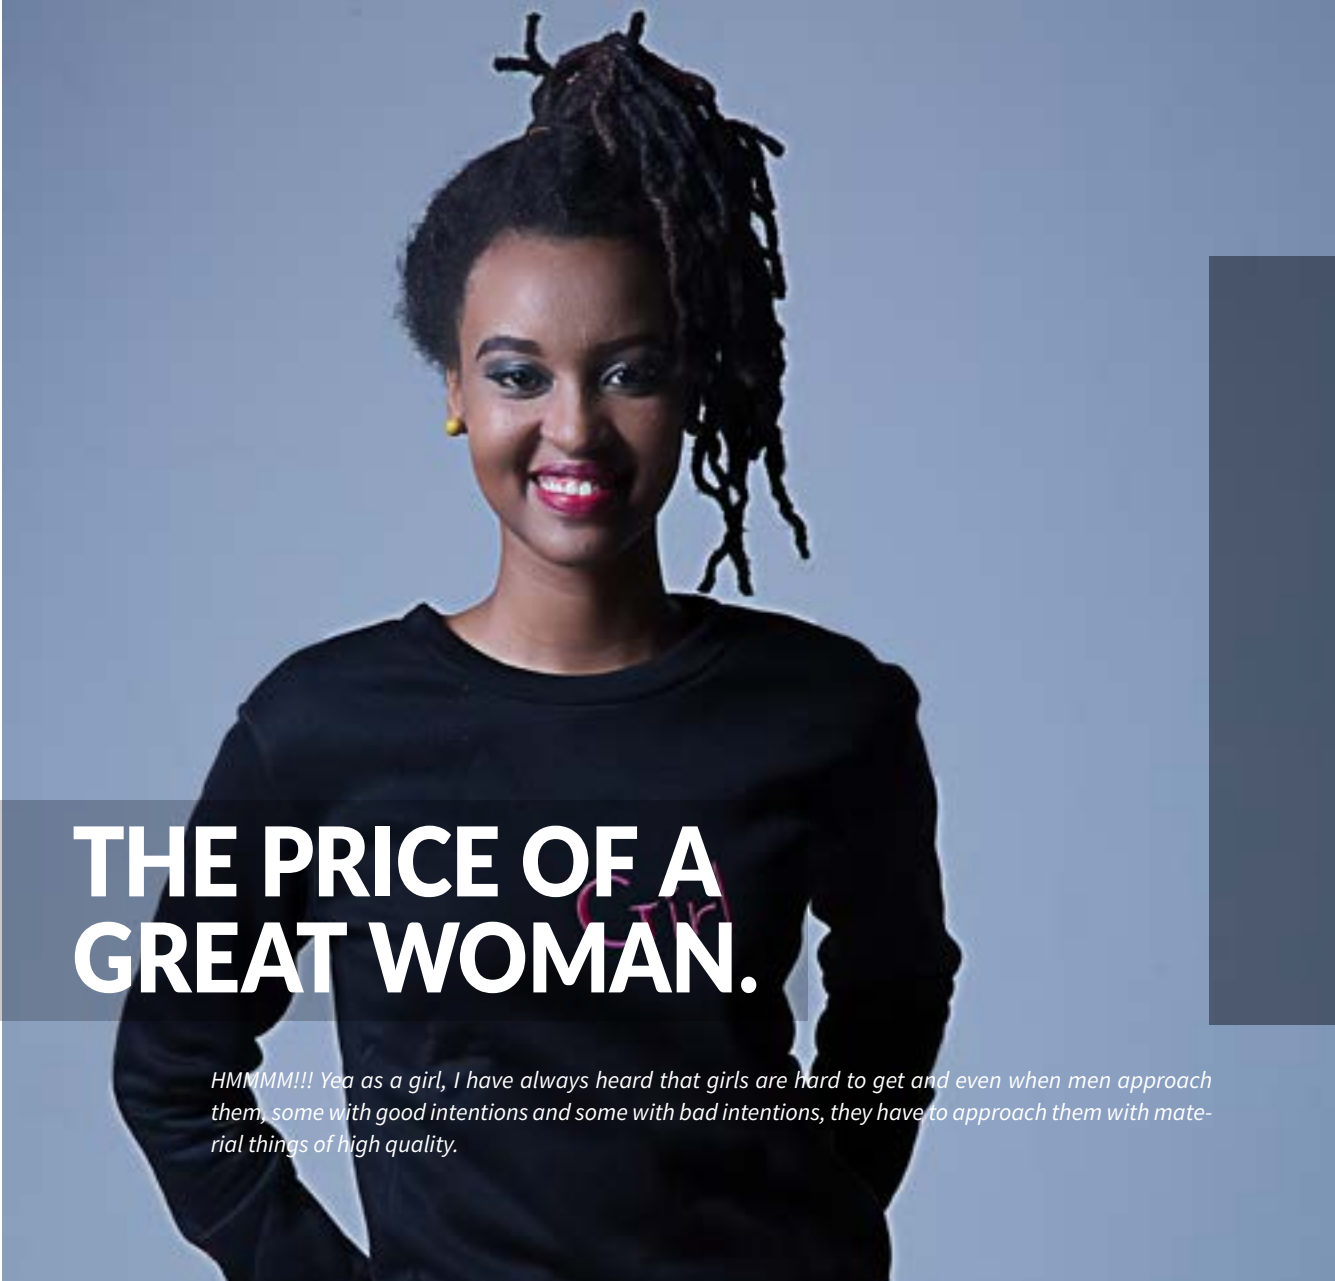

The price of a virtuous woman is far above rubies. How precious! Any woman of such kind would be appreciated by all men. She is close to perfection, but not perfect. Like they say “no one is perfect”. In addition, she is a praying woman. My pastor always says “with prayers, get Gods direction, follow him, and he will lead you to success”. Fasting and prayers put you into the best possible position of a breakthrough. Hickey (2017) stated that, if you have any need in your life, you need a breakthrough from God to meet that need! Fasting and prayers break the yoke of bondage and bring about a release of God’s presence, power and provision.

Furthermore, integrity, which is said to be the character of an individual is closely associated with the characteristics of trust, and without integrity, no leader can be successful. Grant, a professor of management at Wharton, shares a research which suggest that some of the most successful people-not just in business, but in many realms-are in fact classic “givers”, people who genuinely try to help those around them. An example of such giver is Oprah Winfrey. Oprah is an icon, someone who paved the way for others to become successful. She also has an imaginative mind, and puts a lot of strength and effort in her pursuits .Lastly, a virtuous woman puts in her best in whatever she does, no matter how small the work is, for we do not know where our favour will come from.

Consider obstacles as an opportunity to make you stronger (rather than a barrier) in some areas of your life like: determination, focus, and patience. Every determined woman is already a success. No matter the stumbling block that comes in one’s narrow way, one should be determined to overcome by focusing on the treasures ahead. For example, there are obstacles that come along the way of a university student, which are stumbling blocks that can cause a drop out from school, such as: racism, cultism, tuition fee, sexual harassment etc. But by the determination to strive hard and overcome, (because of the benefit ahead), she will successfully become a graduate. You get the picture!! Patience keeps us on track with God, for the best things don’t come easy. Last but not the least, preparation is the most valuable important key of life that paves way quickly to greatness.

Procrastination is completely murdered when you are always prepared. It takes a hard working woman to always be prepared as preparation is the willingness to be ready in advance for the future. Here is a true story of a lady called Zain Asher. A Nigeria Igbo woman to be precise. Another great woman of success as a result of preparation. Zain always wanted to work for CNN and she believed that an opportunity will come someday. So, every weekend, she’ll go to the library to study topics based on her dream. One fateful day, she met a CNN executive who was looking for a reporter, he gave her two weeks to prepare for an interview, feeling guilty about the short time frame. But she was ready. Today she anchors CNN newsroom. Remember, don’t wait for the call before you prepare, rather, prepare before the call.

In conclusion, do whatever good it takes to achieve great heights; with hard work, praying and fasting, letting God lead you, portraying the character of a virtuous woman and finally, be ready for a breakthrough can knock at your door any time any day.

THE PRICE OF A GREAT WOMAN.

HMMMM!!! Yea as a girl, I have always heard that girls are hard to get and even when men approach them, some with good intentions and some with bad intentions, they have to approach them with material things of high quality.

Sometimes I ask myself, if that is the price a girl should get as being a girl. But NO, that should not be the price of a girl or lady who aspires to be a great woman.

A great woman is seen as a precious woman who is priceless as the book of Proverb 31 said “her price is far above rubies”; RUBY is a high energy stone which is a type of sapphire.

Ruby amplifies energy and increase prana (a life giving force), it is also considered a boost to earth healing.

It is considered to be a leadership stone.

It is associated with prosperity and wealth for centuries which brings general prosperity.

It is used to increase generosity.

Rubies are expensive jewels, not just expensive but valuable and scare to see.

Ruby is a stone that is considered in crystal healing to be very protective of home, children as well as psychic protection.

It is also said to protect against unhappiness.

Ruby is considered a powerful manifestation stone.

Ruby is a great stone of great courage and inner strength.

It is a stone of honesty.

IF ALL THESE DESCRIBE WHAT RUBY IS, HOW PRECIOUS AND USEFUL IT IS. THEN I, AS A VIRTUOUS AND GREAT WOMAN WHOSE PRICE IS FAR ABOVE RUBIES, I AM PRICELESS.

HONORINE

- We have an epidemic of insecure people in our society today. Many people have an identity crisis because they don't really know who they are and they base their worth and value on all the wrong things – what they do, what they look like, who they know, what they know or what they own.
- What do you think of yourself? How do you feel about yourself? Do you ever compare yourself with other people and feel belittled if you can't do what they can do or be like them? Have you ever said “I wish I looked like her” or “I wish I had what they have” or “I wish I could do what you do”?
- Everyone experiences insecurity at times. I know what's it's like to feel inferior to others and insecure about myself. The good news is, we don't have to live insecure lives because it's God's will for us to be very secure and not to live in fear. We were created to feel safe, secure, confident and bold.

HOW ABOUT WE TRUST GOD THAN WE TRUST OUR INSECURITIES?

The Choice Every Girl Has to Make

These are some powerful truths. God has clearly declared that you are deeply loved and highly valued by Him. With that in mind, here is the question you must ask . . .

Will I let the promises of God be enough for me, or . . .?

•Will I need what God says about me and the love of a boy to feel okay?

•Will I need what God says about me and to be the most popular girl in school to feel okay?

•Do I need what God says about me and to lose fifteen pounds to feel okay?

•Do I need what God says about me and a new wardrobe to feel okay?

•Will I need what God says about me and to be valedictorian to feel okay?

We can't do anything about fat days.

We don't have a magic wand that can clear up your skin and trick out your closet. (Or I would wave it for myself, for sure!) But let's ask ourselves, “In light of all that God says about us, shouldn't these things matter less?”

Ultimately, insecurity is about unbelief. We don't believe that we are who God says that we are. The tentacles of insecurity started to loosen their grip on my heart when I finally chose to believe God's Word about my worth and value and decided to let it be enough. Always remember that “the prettiest girls are the most confident girls”. They are not necessarily confident because they're pretty. They're pretty because they're confident.”

I hope this helps some one over there ~ love ~

WOMEN BREAKING THROUGH THE GLASS CEILING AND BEYOND

TINA

It's been several years now basically currently in the year 2017. We, as a portion of the human kind have seen how women have fought their way up to the top.

Gone are the days where women were told to stay home to do most house chores and take care of the kids, as well as the days where women were seen carrying buckets of water or wood on their heads.

The olden day notion of what a woman should be has long passed and we in recent times have seen women come out in numbers and do more than what society has painted them as.

A woman should be able to reach her full potential without being told what to do and what not to do as well as have equal rights to accomplish goals she has set out for herself.

Many people would agree that articles written about influential women such as Oprah Winfrey, J.K. Rowling, Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, Hillary Clinton is so liberating to see and to read about.

Forbes 2017 has also ranked Isabel dos Santos as the 8th richest woman in Africa amongst several other billionaires.

This has proven that women can cross and have definitely crossed the silver lining and are not limited by aiming for the sky only as that is where merely their starting point begins.

The world will surely evolve and as it goes on day by day women will no longer be left out.

Just like shooting stars at night women will continue to shine bright no matter the circumstances.

We have women in managerial positions, women are now referred to as CEOs, Directors to name a few and the best of all Presidents.

Women have grown to be much stronger beings who are able to care for themselves. The idea of an equal world is still one that is at debate but women have fought any form of patriarchy that holds them back from improving.

It's such a wonderful sight to see that in some countries such as Rwanda women have taken up 63 percent of seats in parliament than men have. Other countries such as Cuba, Sweden, Senegal, South Africa, Ecuador, Finland, Iceland, Seychelles and Bolivia follow suit as well.

However this is not to say that the efforts of men go unnoticed but the improvement of women is something that the world should take note of and celebrate at any given point.

Society at large should encourage women to continue raising the flag and creating platforms for other women to flourish into greater beings as those that are in higher power.

Women themselves should encourage the old and the younger generation to reach beyond the goals they have set for themselves.

DEAL WITH YOUR CHARACTER ISSUE: IT WILL REFLECT IN YOUR MARRIAGE.

TAKE TIME TO DEAL WITH ANY UNDERLYING NEGATIVE CHARACTER IN YOUR LIFE BECAUSE IT WILL REFLECT IN YOUR MARRIAGE.

MARRIAGE DOES NOT MELT BAD HABITS; MARRIAGE WILL MOSTLY LIKE PRONOUNCE IT. CHARACTER IS BUILT FROM HABITS DEVELOPED FROM DAILY ACTIONS AND REACTION. YOU ARE MOST LIKELY GOING TO REACT TO YOUR SPOUSE THE SAME WAY YOU REACT DAILY.

HER FOR EACH OTHER

.....INI....

The biggest lie that has been spread in our time is “every man for himself”, this is very incorrect. We are put on this earth with a purpose but at the very top of the list is the fact that we are here for each other, your presence on earth is beneficial to another human life consciously or unconsciously. Let’s consider it from a scientific perspective: The Ecosystem, the chain of reaction and existence of other life-forms contribute to our day-to-day existence as well as we contribute to each other’s existence and to other lifeforms as well.

- A woman is an even more formidable force in the existence of man. When God created man, He placed a woman in the garden as a helper so while the man is the head, she is the foundation. However, man sinned and God cursed man, when he cursed the woman one of the things He said was that she will always be considered as the weaker vessel. Overtime, the world has come to misuse and take advantage of that line, concluding that if a woman is the weaker vessel she must therefore be unimportant, and must always be treated as such but a woman is so much more than that.

In a world where women must compete at lower levels for everything, women still manage to rise above all that. They are taught at a young age to always try hard in everything, they are taught that their opinions do not matter as much as the man’s, they are not taught how to appreciate themselves and they are often not even encouraged when they decide to pursue ideologies or ambitions mostly associated with men. However, women have managed to conquer all these obstacles and that is why it is very disheartening that after all women have been able to achieve over the years, it is other women that try to bring each other down. These women see fellow women as competition, from looks, to intelligence to ambition. We are supposed to work hand in hand to make the life of women and the girl-child better not tear each other down. A woman sees another woman doing well in her business and goes on to shame her for not being married, another woman sees a housewife and shames her for not having a job and helping to take care of the family, the list goes on and on.

The time is now, for women to stand up for the rights of fellow women, to work hand in hand and support their choices and orientations

Every woman is created different and therefore has the right to her own opinions and decisions. A housewife is not a lesser woman for sitting at home and taking care of the family, such a woman has found her strength and used it to her own benefits and happiness. Also, a woman that has decided to have a career and work late nights is not lesser or better than another woman but she also has found her passion and has gone for it. Women should empower other women. Do not look down on another woman based on skin color, religion, beliefs and passion, we should instead, stand up for each other, defend each other but most importantly be a good example.

It is important to note, that empowerment does not mean encouraging bad practices or soliciting for a woman that has clearly done wrong. Empowerment is about sharing information, providing initiative for another person to make strong decisions and take control of their rights, it is not about empowering bad practices or acts of violence and deceit. Empowerment points one in the right direction. Finally, the time to make a change is now and it begins with each one of us. The change in the old mindset of dragging women down does not need to change only with the man but women as well. We are here for each other and must act accordingly.

MY IDENTITY ON SOCIAL MEDIA.

Your personal identity is not defined through social media. YEAH, it is said that Self-identity is obtained in two ways; through self-awareness and observation of others.

Through self-awareness which is done through social media and knowing to us some people post a false post of themselves on social media for people to think right about them, while the negative aspect of them is being kept as a secret.

Some people refuse to understand the Psychology aspect of today’s social media on the impact of people. Some people want to be like others they view or see from social media, some people want to acquire what some people post on social media. Is that the best way to identify your personal identity? NO.

For you to know your true identity you cannot copy the lifestyle of those you see on social media as your role model because you don’t really know the truth or the Negative and positive details of their life style, you only go for what you see on social media.

According to T.D JAKES “So many people are intensely searching for purpose and meaning in life” which you have to identity by being yourself. You cannot expect to be someone else because you are not that person. You can only be you and your personal identity matters a lot.

The person you see in you matters a lot
What you think about yourself matters a lots
The choice is yours to be who you want to be and not what social media leads you to be.

As it often called, is a human rights violation, it is a formal union where one or both parties are under 18 years old. Despite laws against it, the practice remains widespread, in part because of persistent poverty and gender inequality. In developing countries, one in every three girls is married before reaching age 18. The legally prescribed marriageable age in some jurisdictions is below 18 years, especially in the case of girls; and even when the age is set at 18 years, many jurisdictions permit earlier marriage with parental consent or in special circumstances, such as teenage pregnancy.

In certain countries, even when the legal marriage age is 18, cultural traditions take priority over legislative law. Child marriage affects both boys and girls, though the overwhelming majority of those affected are girls, most of whom are in poor socioeconomic situations. Child marriage thrives in many countries, yet it is most commonly found in South East Asia and sub-Saharan Africa, with Niger found to have the highest proportion of child marriage with 76% of girls married before they're 18.

Child marriage tends to occur in rural areas more than urban areas. This is because rural areas are typically more impoverished and consequently, prospects for girls are more limited. Rural areas often have more traditional outlooks where girls who are unmarried have the pressure of society disapproval. Figures also show that girls from poorer backgrounds were more likely to be child brides; females in the poorest quintile are 2.5 times more likely to be implicated in child marriage than those living in the wealthiest quintile.

Many would refer to the biblical days as a source of encouragement and God given permission to engage in such. I would like to state here that, just because something is in the Bible, does not mean that God approves it as ideal. The patriarchs were polygamous, but

CHILD OR EARLY MARRIAGE

Ephesians 5 reveals that God's actual ideal is one man and one woman, not one man and a bunch of women. So also the case of child or early marriage is wrong within its context.

Cultures and traditions may approve of it but God does not permit anyone to molest or destroy one's body for his or her own sexual pleasures at the detriment of a child who has no say or has been forced to engage in such. We must never cling to a tradition (Talmud) that contradicts the Great Command. For that Jesus reserved some of his strongest language.

The negative repercussions of this act are listless and although many countries have passed laws outlawing child or early marriages, communities often ignore the law. Child marriages can cause obstetric and health complications like maternal and infant mortality, HIV/AIDS, vaginal fistula, social and physical complications like disrupting education, limit girls' economic potential, and mental and emotional complications which all correlate with high levels of sexual abuse and violence. All of this perpetuates the cycle of poverty, reinforcing it, and making it hard to escape, and ultimately contributing to regional instability.

That's where we come in! Christians can do much to change attitudes and practices at a heart level. Here are some suggestions: Share the gospel and biblical resources online: Many people without flush toilets own cell phones and access web content with them. The best way to change attitudes is through changed hearts. We can help educate the ignorant and the ungodly faster via this means.

Speak on behalf of victims: Such speaking includes challenging rape-culture thinking and paying attention to how we talk about those who have been violated or are present victims. In many communities, sexual violence becomes a reason to shame the victim and cause them to withdraw in fear, accepting the terms in their "marriages" so as to escape the disgrace and the segregation brought by being a "victim". Challenge such thinking! Work to shift the dishonor from the victim to the criminal. Affirm those who have endured sexual abuse and violence when they speak out about their trauma.

Sponsor girls: Help girls stay in school. Their education is strongly connected with a family's ability to pull itself out of poverty, and often parents will not let girls attend school unless someone sponsors them. It either we the believers or the Godly sponsor them or someone with a negative and pervasive intention that glorifies the devil does.

Each additional year of age at marriage boosts the likelihood of literacy by 5 percentage points. And helping girls stay in school increases their literacy, which is correlated with many improvements in safety, health, and community stability.

Train pastoral leaders: The church needs to train Pastors alike who speak and minister at weddings to embrace a biblical view of gender equality that eschews viewing girls as commodities while still respecting local laws about age at marriage. Educate the church and the church will educate the world. For those who have victims get support from the church near you, start something with your life that will not put you at loggerhead with your partner but will make help you in the long run to achieve a purpose.

We can save lives if we rise up as God's army with the right mind set (Ephesians 6:12) and do the needful. We must remember Ps 127 v 3a, and ensure that we protect our vulnerable children from pedophiles and their kind. We must save our generation.

AM I A WOMAN OR A SLAVE TO BE SUBMISSIVE?

Some women feel like a slave or feel denied of freedom because they lack the concept of submissiveness, they lack the understanding of submissiveness and they can't be empowered as a woman because they can't submit themselves to learn and teach others.

Your freedom as a woman is not denied because you are submissive, because we all know that a decision and a choice is made to become a slave, it should never be forced upon you.

So see yourself as a submissive woman, not a slave because no one fitted my definition of a slave except Vince.

One of the attribute of a good woman is submissiveness. Some people have the ideology that being submissive as a woman is being a slave and being denied of power. The Word of God recorded that a woman should be submissive" That does not deprive the woman of being empowered. The whole secret of a submissive woman is self-respect. The more submissive a woman is, the more respect she gains as a woman.

COOKING: MY HOBBY, MY CULTURE

Many young girls of the 21st century fails to see cooking as one of the tangible skills a girl should have because of the modernization in our world today.

I can remember growing up as a child, the first thing I learnt from my mum was cooking. She always draws me to the kitchen whenever she is cooking, I do the grinding and the cutting. And also, to my granny who always have a cooking timetable for me and my siblings, excluding the boys. With a clearly written cooking timetable with what to cook, who to cook and the days we have to cook. I once missed my turn because I was busy in school and this made my granny punish me, telling me to cook for the church congregation after the fasting without any help which made me cry.

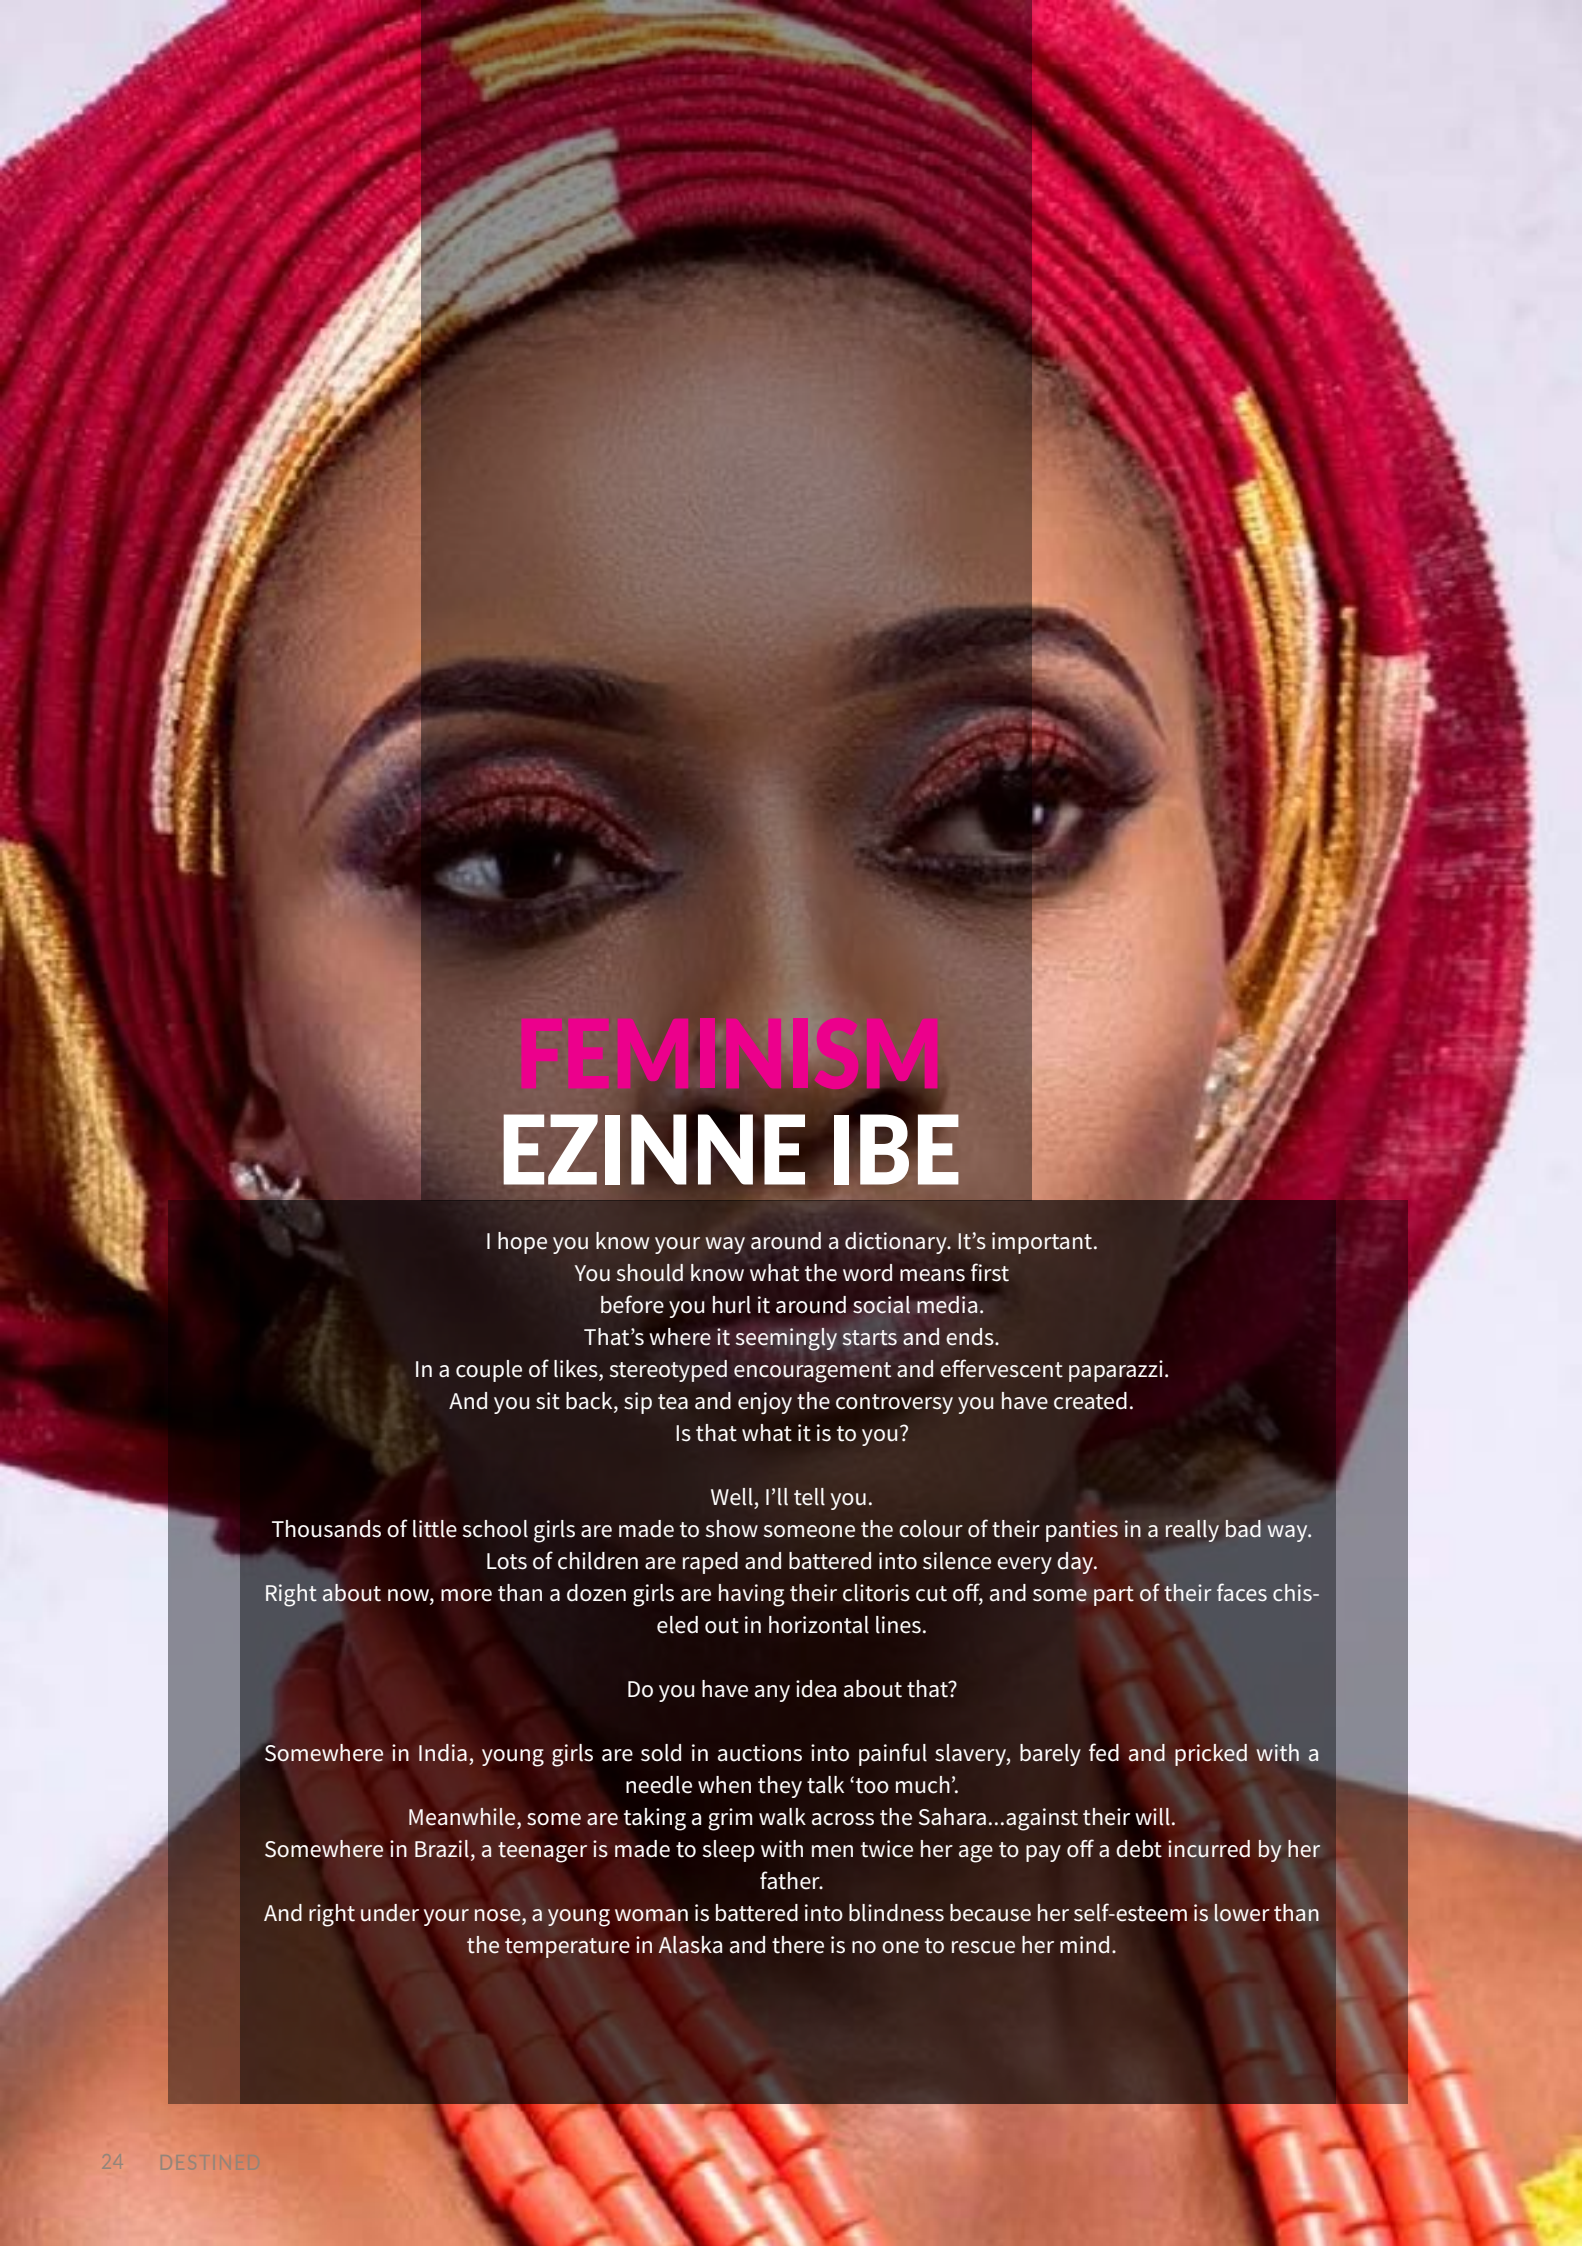

But I can say I am proud of myself and also proud of my mum and granny who taught me while I was child. I see so many of my friends and other ladies not able to cook while some of them prepare half-done meals, which is not good for a lady. A lady ought to know how to cook different dishes not just boiling rice and water. Cooking ought to be every girl's hobby and it ought to be our culture as a part of life.

LET'S THINK ABOUT RELATIONSHIP.

- In the society today, we see that everyone is hyped over being in relationships, getting married or starting families. None of those are bad goals. However, those should not be our only goals. I have come to notice something very disturbing in the church: people want a Godly relationship than they want God. People want to get married more than they want to be the bride of Christ. We are investing so much Love rather than getting to know the foundation of Love which is Christ.
- This is mainly for those who feel lonely. Trust God is the first step you have to take. Many people trust God with everything expect with their Love life. Stop picking and choosing the areas of your life you will submit to Christ. Allow God to lead you instead of emotions or loneliness. Until you learn to be content alone with Christ, you will never get to know God's plans for your life or the people that love you.

GRACE

FEMINISM EZINNE IBE

I hope you know your way around a dictionary. It's important.
You should know what the word means first before you hurl it around social media.
That's where it seemingly starts and ends.
In a couple of likes, stereotyped encouragement and effervescent paparazzi.
And you sit back, sip tea and enjoy the controversy you have created.
Is that what it is to you?

Well, I'll tell you.
Thousands of little school girls are made to show someone the colour of their panties in a really bad way.
Lots of children are raped and battered into silence every day.
Right about now, more than a dozen girls are having their clitoris cut off, and some part of their faces chiseled out in horizontal lines.

Do you have any idea about that?

Somewhere in India, young girls are sold in auctions into painful slavery, barely fed and pricked with a needle when they talk 'too much'.

Meanwhile, some are taking a grim walk across the Sahara...against their will.
Somewhere in Brazil, a teenager is made to sleep with men twice her age to pay off a debt incurred by her father.

And right under your nose, a young woman is battered into blindness because her self-esteem is lower than the temperature in Alaska and there is no one to rescue her mind.

FEMINISM EZINNE IBE

Do you have any idea about that?

Oh no you wouldn't.
You're too busy arguing about bride prices...
Priorities woman!
'Womendom' does not need your negative energy.
Because while you debate on who should do the cooking, a pedophile looms at your backyard.
Focus ma'am!!

It's not your business if she kneels or stands when giving him that glass of wine.
Genital mutilation, sex slavery, human trafficking, rape and violence....that's your business. Face it.

Feminism isn't a battle of the sexes.
Most of the time, men are not your real enemies.
They don't make up the majority of pimps and traffickers.
Feminism is a concept you should understand.
It has nothing to do with growing natural hair, nor being mean nor being sarcastic.
It does not make you automatically sensible.
You hear?

Dear ladies,

Get your act together too.
Don't blame the feminist for everything bad that happens to you.
If you can't keep a good relationship, you can't! It has nothing to do with the feminist.
So get rid of your gratuitous feeling of entitlement.
This is life. No one is obligated to do anything for you.
If they do, they do it out of love.
This is life.
You come alone, you leave alone.
You hear?

BEFORE YOU ARE ENGAGED

THE LORD GOD SAID, "IT IS NOT GOOD THAT THE MAN SHOULD BE ALONE; I WILL MAKE HIM A HELPER SUITABLE FOR HIM." GENESIS 2 VERSE 18

BEFORE YOU ARE ENGAGED

1) Get busy: an idle man does not need a help meet Before you think of engaging anyone, think of engaging yourself with God's service first. You are most likely going to locate the right person in your place of service. People of like mind cluster together, a clubber will likely locate a clubber, in the same way, the one serving God will locate help meet, while serving God. If you don't have anything doing in the kingdom, then, don't ask God for a helpmeet because your helpmeet will end up been jobless. An idle man will most likely marry a miss-fit for his life because he does not know what kind of help he needs. The initial marriage was initiated because there was an assignment on ground. Adam had already located his assignment (taking care to the garden) and he was doing it faithfully when God saw he needed a help meet.

The LORD God said, "It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him a helper suitable for him." Genesis 2 verse 18

In this case, been alone for Adam goes beyond loneliness. It includes being alone in the place of service. Adam was doing his assessment alone so GOD recommended a helper for productivity.

Two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labour. For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow: but woe to him that is alone when he falleth; for he hath not another to help him up. Ecclesiastes 4 verse 9-12

If Adam was not doing anything in the garden then there would not have been a need for a help meet. As soon as the help meet was delivered to him, he knew exactly why the helper came.

2) Never say yes to someone that does not look like your destiny. A man must define himself before considering marriage. A person is defined by what he is created for or what he is called to do and God is the only one that can safely define a man. He will reveal the purpose of a man's life. Once a man has an answer to his purpose in life then he can identify he vision co-bearer. Don't say yes to someone that does not believe in your calling or purpose because he will not fulfill the roll of a vision co-carrier (help meet). Abraham understood this; that was why he made his servant swear to get a wife for his son from his kindred (Gen 24 v 1-4) because there was a covenant in the Abrahamic lineage that must be sustained. Abraham is committed to fulfilling the task of keeping a Godly lineage. However Sarah has a part to play for Abraham to fulfil this mandate. She was to carry the promised child in her womb. God told Abraham specifically that the promise child is from Sarah not from Hagar.

But God said, "No, but Sarah your wife will bear you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac; and I will establish My covenant with him for an everlasting covenant for his descendants after him. As for Ishmael, I have heard you; behold, I will bless him, and will make him fruitful and will multiply him exceedingly. He shall become the father of twelve princes, and I will make him a great nation. Genesis 17 verse 19-21

Abraham's family was waiting for the promised child not because Abraham didn't have a son but because Abraham didn't have a seed through Sarah. The person you marry has a part in your destiny. A lot of destiny has come to a full stop because of the person they married. A sister once shared with me her plan to launch her album and her aspiration for the music ministry, but she couldn't launch into music after her marriage because her husband didn't believe in that so she lost her passion for music. You need a destiny partner to fulfil God's call on your life.

PASTOR MRS MERCY ALEBIOSU

3) Let him/her know your past and your plans

It's very important to share your plans and visions with your partner, let him/her understand and ask questions before going into a relationship. Be explicit, don't give room for assumptions. It will help him/her to be prepared for the task ahead.

I remembered before I got engaged, my fiancé spent time to share his plans with me especially in ministry which I quite understood. It is important to share your intentions and find a common point before marriage. This is a way to build a solid foundation (among others). Let your intending faience/fiancée be cleared on your plans for ministry, relocation, education, your interest in raising kids and lots more. Don't hide your past from your partner. He/she will get to find out. There's nothing hidden that will not be revealed (Luke 18 verse 4). It easier to let loose the cart before getting into a relationship. A pastor share a story of a sister that was converted after a life of prostitution. She joined the workforce of the church and was doing fine. After a while a brother proposed to her not knowing her background. The sister told him the story of her life and that she has lost count of the affair she has had, then she requested the brother to re-propose. The brother was shocked and couldn't do the re- proposal. Let your partner know what he or she is going into before starting the relationship otherwise you have dug the pit for that relationships.

6) Hear from God

It's important to hear from God before making a choice otherwise you will be upset by people's comment about your relationship. If you're not sure of what God is saying you will turn back in the face of life challenges.

3) Deal with your character issue: It will reflect in your marriage.

Take time to deal with any underlying negative character in your life because it will reflect in your marriage. Marriage does not melt bad habits; marriage will mostly like pronounce it. Character is built from habits developed from daily actions and reaction. You are most likely going to react to your spouse the same way you react daily. You're most likely going to treat your spouse the same you treat others. It is generally believed the people will grow out of some negative habits after marriage. It does not always work that way. In fact, reverse is the case in most cases. If a man has issue with anger, he may be angrier when he's married and if a man is impatient, he may become more impatient after marriage. If a man refuse to deal with fornication when he is single then he will graduate to adultery. It will be difficulty for a man that has not dealt with fornication to keep to his wife after marriage. As a matter of fact it's not easy to eat from the same pot for years. During our marriage counseling, one of the counselors told us that he has been married for more than 10years and he has kept to his wife with much satisfaction. He has zeroed his mind to any other woman right from time. There is no magic in marriage that will change a man attitude; you just have to deal with it. Jacob remained a supplanter he was even after he got married and had children until God meet with him and changed his name.

4) Don't hide your person

A man's personality can't be hidden for a life time and marriage is for life. Let your partner know those striking negative aspect of your life and let him/her decide to go with. Most times people hide some things about their life once they discover their intending spouse has a negative opinion. Keeping necessary information from your intending spouse is a bedrock for shaking relationship. Highlight any major controversial issues or belief you know about yourself to your intending faience/fiancée. Don't let him/her discover way into the relationship. If you are not a tither for an example, let her/him know. It might be a great shocker for her if she gets to discover especially if she's an addicted tither.

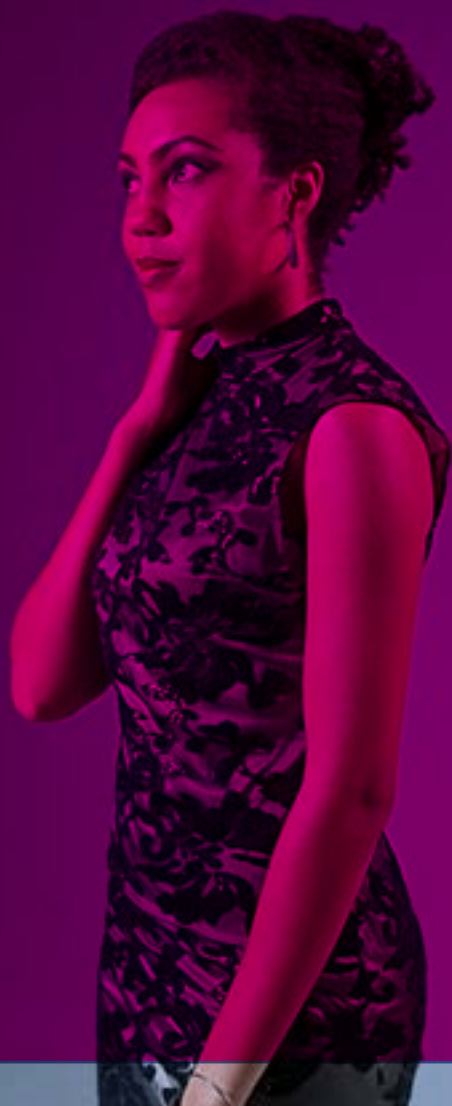

5) Be prepared to accept your partner

Everybody has a negative side. It might be impossible to fine your perfect match however be ready to accept your partner with his negative side. Don't plan to change everything about your partner. There's are things that can't be changed. You can't change your partner's height and some long time habits among others. It's ok to make effort to prayerfully highlight to your intending spouse those areas you desire him/her to change but failure to yield result shouldn't lead to frustration.

VICTORIA

I AM A WOMAN

Life as a woman can be difficult because there is so much pressure of being at your best, there is an expected behavior, an expected way of carrying yourself, an expected way of speaking, an expected way of eating, an expected way of dressing and the list goes on and on. You are expected to be able to tolerate so much and just remain humble and silent. A lot of women are maltreated, and surprisingly women are hard on other women as well! You are expected to carry a lot of weight and get the blame for almost everything that goes wrong. You are beaten down by any mistake or wrong conduct, it will be spoken about and remembered, while a man can do so much wrong but there is tolerance and not much judging on his behavior, compared to a woman.

Growing up was always about preparing for a husband and marriage. My whole childhood felt like a training ground for when I get married, and I missed out on just being me, growing my mind as an individual, finding myself, my likes, my happiness and things that bring joy to my life. Everything was always about being perfect for this future husband that I had no idea of. I was always told, keep your virginity so that your husband will respect you, learn to cook and keep the kitchen clean so that your husband's friends will be jealous of him. Learn to wash, to clean, to mop, and so on, so that you will be the perfect wife, and yet being a perfect wife does not guarantee that you will have that perfect husband. So many women today live broken and just accept that life is hard, and it does not get better because a lot of us do not have self-love and are insecure. Sometimes we feel robbed, we think about how we kept ourselves, did all the things we ought to do and yet landed up with an abusive spouse, while a girl you once sat and gossiped about her looseness, is happily married and being treated like a queen. Look at how hard we are on each other, look at how competitive a lot of us are with each other. How many times have we sat down and discussed other women and brought them down and laughed at their weaknesses and mistakes and faults. We always want to be the better one, the prettier one, the more desired one. And we forget that the world is already so hard on us as women. Why can't we be shoulders for one another? Why can't we try and help each other be better, stronger, why can't we motivate one another. Why can't we build each other up as sisters, and stop making it seem like the only happiness you get is in marriage. Why can't we stop waiting for a husband before we start living our lives?. Stop being hard on your fellow women, and stop being hard on yourself. Take time to love and nurture yourself, find inner peace with yourself. Live life as a happy individual. Be an individual because you will not get happiness from someone else. Do what you love to do and stop bringing yourself down to the expectations of, 'a woman'. Rather than training to be the best wife, why not rather train yourself to be the best that you can be, and do all that you do to your best ability because the only thing that we are best at is, being ourselves. Always remember that a relationship is meant to build us up and for us to build the next person. Settle for the man that will build you as you build him. Settle for the man that will respect you, as you will respect him, because you are a woman. With love

A MOTHER'S ADVICE

We give glory to the Almighty God for how far He has seen us through in this journey and how far He is yet to take us by His grace. It has been awesome and challenging and if not for the assurance and confidence in the Lord for His faithfulness and grace it would have been a different story entirely. There have been "ups and downs" but 'faithful is He that calleth you, who also will do it'. 1 Thessalonians 5: 24. He is the one that has kept us in this journey right from the onset, and is still keeping and will continually keep us until the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. To Him be glory, honor and adoration for ever more.

A woman who desires to worship the Master must adore and reverence Him with her spirit, soul and body. She must be sold out to Him and recognize that without Him she is nothing. I pray that this theme will find expression in the lives of our sisters in Jesus name.

'What possible challenges can affect a woman's act of worship?

Women are faced with a lot of challenges in all aspect of life and God has been able to sustain women in His sovereignty. He has given women some unexplainable inner strength which explains why women keep on going. Despite all these challenges, few of which are: insecurity, intimidation, fear of the unknown, peer pressure, social status, covetousness, marital issues like when the husband does not really care for the wife, or does not even want her to serve God the way she wants, worldliness ,etc.

These challenges can be overcome if a woman relies solely on the power of the Holy Spirit because He alone can help all our infirmities, teach and comfort us. The importance of the power of prayer must not be left out. God answers prayer. A prayerless woman is a powerless and fearful woman who will find it difficult to handle any challenge that comes her way. When a woman is spiritually inclined, she will overcome by the help of God. She must be focused on The Lord who is the author and finisher of our faith and must not be distracted by spectators whose aim is to derail her.

When I got to Malaysia some years back, I noticed a great difference between the population of women and men in our churches and I wondered then why it was so but later as I moved around, it dawned on me that this is not only peculiar to RCCG but to other churches where they are predominantly Africans. The truth is that most of the men who are in search of greener pastures here in Malaysia left their wives or fiancées back home in their countries and this explains why we have fewer women than men in our churches and not because women do not serve God as men. It is a well known fact that women are even more yielded to the service of God than men.

MUMMY
OMISORE

To the young women or sisters who are aspiring to become leaders in this mission, I would like them to know primarily that leadership does not come on a platter of gold. You must be ready to learn and become knowledgeable so that when you get to the top, you will not be lacking in your area of calling. Self-development matters a lot. You cannot give what you don't have. A lot of women shy away from responsibilities because they don't have what it takes. When a woman realizes that she does not have it, let her go out, 'seek knowledge and pursue it'.(Proverbs 18:15).The Bible also says, 'study to show yourself approved unto God , a workman that needs not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth(2 Timothy 2:15). Knowledge empowers. They should make sure they attend seminars, workshops, trainings, etc. Diligence and hard work cannot be ruled out of leadership. A leader that is lazy cannot be productive.

Humility is another virtue that a leader must possess because it is God that exalts a man. If as a leader you are not humble, you will be brought down. You must live a holy life worthy of emulation. Nobody wants to associate with a leader who is not living right. As a young woman, whether married or not, you can be a leader and this depends how focused you are to the work of the kingdom. A woman that cannot manage her household cannot manage a leadership post in the church. Women are known to be good managers but it requires a lot of resources; spiritual, emotional, intellectual and physical. Any woman who is lacking in this area cannot be a leader. A lot of sisters have missed out of God's plan for their lives as a result of their wayward lifestyles.

They have forgotten that it is the blessing of The Lord that maketh rich and He adds no sorrow to it. They need to retrace their steps to God so that they can fulfill their aspirations and become what God has ordained them to be. The advice I have for younger women is that they should get involved in the church activities and not be left out. The church is a place of transformation as well as a training ground to greater heights. A lot of sisters just sit in the background where-as they have great gifts in them which they can use to impart lives. They should not be bench warmers. There is no individual who God has not blessed with potentials in them but where these potentials are being channeled to, matters to God. Submission to authority is equally important. There is no authority that is not ordained by God. Sometimes God uses the authority as a training ground for you so that when you get to the top you would have been fully equipped for the assignment. Hmm.....women, both young and old have a great role to play in the area of evangelism. One important thing we need to identify is the peculiarity of the environment where we are and how to go about it. This must be approached with wisdom and the leading of the Holy Spirit. Our way of life is a means of evangelism. Nobody wants to identify with someone whose lifestyle is nothing to write home about! Some sisters' attitude even drives away people from the church. We have heard people say that they would rather stay at home instead of coming to the same church with some particular individual. Our attitude is a great factor that must not be ruled out if we must play a role in evangelism. One important thing that I must point out is that God uses both men and women to show forth His praise but women are shying back. Women need to rise up and fill in the vacuum that has been created out of timidity, complex, laziness and fear. I assure you that God will always back you up even as you stand up for Him and worship Him wholeheartedly. Thank you and God bless.

AS A WOMAN OF GREAT DESTINY, WHAT IS YOUR STAND?

Many ladies make mistake because they fail to realize who they are in the lord. There is some position God placed you to stand in, but you can't realize or arrive to that position if you can't find yourself in the lord. Two persons are not created for the same position, you are one special person created in a special way for a special assignment. It is only when you fail this assignment that you will be replaced.

A lady with the fear of God should grow in the path of the Lord and grow to discover what position she is born to occupy in the world for accomplishment.

You have to grow in the Lord as a God fearing daughter of God for you to discover what position you are to stand both physically and spiritually.

A young lady in Christ should look out for her daily growth in the Lord for her to stand firm in the LORD.

It takes nothing but the wisdom of God for you to be a wise woman. Wisdom does not fall from Heaven, you can only receive it when you ask of it.

It takes divine separation unto God for you to make an outstanding woman, that is, when you have a good relationship with God.

Remember, what the world says about you does not determine who you are, what determines you, is what God says about you and when you believe in what God says about you.

- WHAT IS YOUR STAND AS A LADY?
- YOU ARE A WOMAN IN MAKING, A MOTHER IN MAKING AND A ROLE MODEL FOR THE GENERATION TO SEE.

AGATHA NNAJI

This is one of the questions most of us get to ask ourselves at some point in our lives. I have also asked myself this question. The answer we give ourselves determine a lot of things in our lives.

I will share a bit of my story because I love using real stories to draw out lessons. Read this carefully because you will find underlying lessons in it. Take note of the salient points too; you could find gold in them.

- I was much younger at that time, energetic, brilliant, daring and enjoying life. I was doing an undergraduate program in one of the tertiary institutions in Nigeria. I was a focused person. I knew I had greatness in me but I didn't know what my calling in life was. I had not discovered purpose. I knew I didn't have to live life anyhow so that formed a guiding principle for me. I knew I shouldn't trade my future for instant pleasures for things I may regret in the future.
- The Tertiary institution is a place for lots of learnings and experiences. Not just academic learnings but social, spiritual, and others.

Every of my friends were in a relationship. I was the odd one out. It wasn't an issue to me though I didn't see it as a big deal but I was curious about the experience. I really wanted to understand what the boyfriend craze was for. I decided to give it a shot.

Notwithstanding, I also wanted to take my time. The fact that I was ready to date didn't mean I could date any Tom, Dick and Harry. I had standards.

Fast forward months later, I met Richard (not real name). He was intelligent, handsome, well cultured and full of life. He wooed me by all means possible. I came to that point of asking myself the golden question "Should I date him or not?" I finally said Yes and our journey began.

He continued being a perfect gentleman. He seemed to be the best decision I made at the time.

I was a girl with principles so we had established some before moving ahead. One of my key principle was "no sex in our relationship". I believe sex should only be done in the confines of marriage. Anything besides that is a No-No. Pre-marital sex was something I decided never to engage in.

SHOULD I DATE HIM OR NOT?

I knew the consequences so I chose my path. Premarital sex has a way of clouding your judgment of the person you are involved with. Do you wonder why you see clear red flags in some relationships but the lady in question doesn't see it? That is one of the ills of premarital sex. Then STDs, unwanted pregnancies and a lot more. I had to stress on this point to him because most men of today think having a girlfriend is a license to having sex. Some people even see it as a requirement in a boy-girl relationship. It isn't a requirement. Sex in marriage is the only normal doctrine.

Our relationship seemed great to everyone. People even had us as relationship goals.

I am that person who loves to talk about future plans and aspirations, so I did ask him from time to time. Sometimes he brushed it aside. Other times he says them. The kind of future he painted wasn't what I saw myself in. He had wonderful dreams but they weren't things I was interested in. As we progressed, I saw that our values were conflicting. We had different beliefs in different things.

I was a Christian. I wanted a deeper relationship with God but he on the other hand was comfortable doing the usual going to church on Sundays and never had or yearned for a personal relationship with God. He was comfortable with the mechanical way. I wanted something more. I wanted a man I could talk about God with. A man I could pray and fellowship with. One who could possibly teach me God's word. He wasn't ready to be that kind of man.

We had different beliefs and perspectives on key issues.

When I was done with my program in the school, I relocated. This period was a key period in my life. Guess what? I discovered purpose. Not like it jumped on me. It was in me all along but I wasn't sensitive to it. I now knew what I wanted to live for. With this, I discovered my current relationship wouldn't support that. We didn't have a future together and there was no need leading him on. When I knew it wouldn't lead us anywhere I had to let him go for his benefit and mine.

A new revelation of yourself helps you streamline your options. Your purpose serves as a checker to so many things in your life.

There are so many lessons in this story.

Firstly, before deciding whether to date him or not, be sure you have discovered purpose. This is the integral part of our existence and most of our life decisions rest on this.

The man you say YES to will greatly affect your life. Happiness is key to living your dreams and fulfilling purpose. Will he be a source of frustration to you? This question is important. Does he support your dreams or say "you dream too much?"

Is he willing to walk with you in life's journey, both in the good times and bad?

Are you also willing to walk with this guy?

Is he willing to help you become the best version of yourself?

Is he secure in the knowledge that you have big dreams?

The questions you should ask yourself are limitless. People jump into relationships because they don't understand the effect this person will have in their lives.

The man also needs to have discovered purpose. There are people who started dating in naivety and when they discover purpose, they see that the lady isn't the right fit for them. In such a situation, a break up is inevitable. Some people stay in relationships like that even when they know they aren't so compatible because of the emotional attachment but it is not right because if you eventually get married to this person, you may get frustrated.

So instead of being in this situation, you both need to have discovered purpose to be sure you are willing to share in each other's life and future.

Another key factor is Mutual respect. Does he respect and value you and your opinions? Is he always willing to know your opinion on a matter or does he feel you have nothing to contribute?

Are you proud of him? Can you introduce him to anyone, anywhere in the world? Think about this very well.

Does your faith or beliefs align? Do you both value the same things. Do you both have a mutual agreement on key issues? This can be a major issue if beliefs are conflicting. The importance of having aligning values cannot be overemphasized. Take your time to watch him to know what things are a priority in his life.

Another is Mutual understanding. When issues arise, does he just flare up or is he willing to discuss them with you calmly? This also applies to you because we should first become what we seek in others.

What you are, you attract!

This statement brings me to talking about "becoming". I want you to ask yourself this very important question. "Can you date you?" I mean if you find someone who has your exact character or personality, can you date that person? Will you have the best experience dating your kind or better still if you become a guy, can you date that guy? If No, work on yourself. Throw out traits in yourself you cannot put up with in others. Be the perfect example of what you seek.

In deciding whether to date him or not, these few factors should help guide you to make the right decision. If your analysis tends towards the negative, please don't go on. We sometimes think we may not find someone so "sweet" as the person we know currently but that is not true.

Someone better will always come along. Do not settle for less because of fear. Do not make a decision you may regret.

As long as you keep developing yourself and becoming a better person, someone better will always come along. Trust me, finding love is sweeter and easier when you become what you seek.

In relationships, unlike physics, likes attract and opposites repel.

I hope this helped you. Go for Gold always!

QUALITIES OF A GODLY WOMAN

A woman is not defined by her age, achievements, or by her marital status. A Godly woman is one who loves God, one who prays and devoted to the things of God. A Godly woman is one who builds and not scatter. She is obedient and submissive. She have passion for the needy and makes sure everyone around her is happy. She always seek for peace and love, when there is hatred. She is not abusive, she beautifies herself with good character and not materials. She is lovely and caring. She is hardworking and industrious. She is a good cook, good looking and neat.

A Godly woman live an exemplary life, a role model indeed, who builds herself to be a mentor. She listens to instructions, takes corrections and go through disciple.

Nevertheless, she does not find herself to be a perfect woman, but a woman who find her strength in God and directed by the wisdom of God.
She is always thankful no matter the circumstances.
